Hello Members & Friends

I'd like to wish a peaceful, prosperous and happy 2019 to you all. As we start another new year and make all those promises to ourselves to do better things, to be better people - the usual resolutions - the theatre too has some resolutions of its own.

As you will see from the list of jobs to be done at our busy bees, we will spend January making our theatre a better place for on-stage and back-stage members and for our audiences. There will be the usual maintenance and cleaning of course, but in addition we will be giving a 'spruce up' to the green room and change rooms with some new carpet tiles (the current carpets are 37 years old!). Carpet tiles will be laid around the back stage areas replacing the current patchwork of salvaged carpet. The audience bathrooms are also to be given a face-lift - again they haven't been updated since the theatre opened in 1989! You will have already noted the bold new signage on the walls of the theatre and very early in this month, you will see an amazing mural appear on the west wall!

Perhaps the biggest ticket item will be a complete replacement of the lighting bar currently situated over the audience. We are in the process of gaining suggestions and quotes to gauge the best way to proceed - to make it safer and to allow us more flexibility with our lighting plots.

We have an excellent program of productions this year with three musicals, a farce and a thriller to entertain and intrigue our audiences. The first production, with new director Helen Smolders and musical director Sean Davies, will go up in March and has already been cast. I'd like to welcome Naomi Cooper, Katherine Blower, Kate Elder, Steph Hickey and, playing a multitude of roles, Jacob Turner.

Our first 'event' for the year will be our annual Awards Night on Saturday 2nd February - check out the details found elsewhere in this newsletter. Please come along and support this event.

Finally, thank you all for your continued support of Wanneroo Repertory and our wonderful Limelight Theatre.
